CABLE MENACE

CESC to act against illegal

TV, Telephone & Internet Cables on electric poles

Mysuru, June 17 (RK&VNS)- Unscientifically drawn TV and internet cables, dangling wires are a common sight across the city, posing a serious threat to commuters who often mistake them for electric cables.

These damaged cables frequently remain unattended on city roads for days, particularly in central areas, becoming an eyesore for tourists visiting Mysuru, a favoured destination.

Despite repeated requests for cleanup falling on deaf ears, the Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) Limited has taken decisive action. In a press release, CESC directed service providers to immediately remove improperly drawn cables from electric poles.

They also mandated that proper permissions must be obtained before fixing cables in V.V. Mohalla, Kuvempunagar, N.R. Mohalla, Hootagalli and Ramakrishnanagar Sub-Divisions.

Officials said they have received several complaints against unauthorised cables lying near electric poles which are not only dangerous but also impede the movement of pedestrians since they are found lying unattended on footpaths.

Dangling cables on footpaths and roads not only pose a threat to the lives of motorists and pedestrians but also mar the beauty of the city.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, CESC Executive Engineer S.B. Anita of V.V. Mohalla Sub-Division highlighted the critical safety concerns posed by these installations. She emphasised that many service providers were neglecting to renew their licences for cable installations, leading to potential fire hazards and risks of electrocution during the installation process.

Mechanic builds world's fastest wheelbarrow

Pembrokeshire: Dylan Phillips, a car mechanic from Pembrokeshire, England, recently set a new Guinness Record for the world's fastest wheelbarrow with a contraption capable of speeds of up to 52 mph (84 km/h).

The 38-year-old mechanic started working on the wheelbarrow in his shed in Crymych, Pembrokeshire, and before long, he had a working trial version. He reached 37 mph during a test drive, and that's when he started looking into the world record for the world's fastest wheelbarrow. He learned that the Guinness record stood at 46 mph, and decided that it was worth a shot to challenge it.

After completing two runs through a speed trap on the 100m course, the English mechanic smashed the old speed record (46 mph) by clocking in at a whopping 52 mph.

Woman dating seven pensioners

Barranquilla: Lina, a young Colombian woman involved in a polyamory relationship with seven pensioners, has been accused of taking advantage of the elderly men for financial gains.

Hailing from the city of Barranquilla, Lina has become the talk of an entire country after her unusual story went viral online. After a series of disappointing romantic relationships with men her own age, the young woman realised that she could achieve financial stability if she targeted pensioners instead. Lina remembered that her neighbour's elderly husband always flirted with her and she understood that she was a lot more desirable to pensioners. So she started spending time in parks and other places where lonely old men usually hang out and she is now in a polyamorous relationship with seven pensioners who all support her financially.

Hike in petrol, diesel prices

BJP to lay siege to DC's office tomorrow

Mysuru, June 17 (GA&VNS)- BJP leaders and workers of the City and District units will lay siege to the Deputy Commissioner's (DC) office tomorrow (June 18) at 10.30 am in protest against the increase of petrol and diesel prices by the State Government, said BJP City President L. Nagendra.

Addressing press persons at Pathrakartara Bhavan in city yesterday, he said that the Congress party, which earlier blamed the Central Government for an increase in petrol and diesel prices, had now snatched the benefits of five guarantee schemes by increasing the petrol and diesel prices.

The protest will be held with a demand to withdraw the price hike. On State Government not budging to our demand, the protests will be intensified all over the State as per the instructions of the party High Command, said Nagendra.

Stating that the Treasury was empty with the State Government trying to impress the people and national leaders, Nagendra said that the State Government had already increased the stamp duty to 120 percent from the existing 20 percent. "This apart, the State has witnessed 405 murder cases, 109 sexual harassment cases and in the past 10 months about 692 farmers have committed suicide. When the BJP was in power, farmers' welfare was given utmost priority without depending on the Central Government. While the BJP State Government had released Rs. 570 crore for various Boards and Corporations, the Congress State Government has only released Rs. 170 crore. The Chief Minister has been misleading the backward communities through his statements of being pro-backwards communities," he said and added that the State Government by increasing the price for TC had also meted injustice to the farmers, who supported them during the elections.

Nagendra, who demanded the resignation of Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwar, alleged that the law and order situation in the State was at an all-time low with people made to suffer in the Congress administration.

BJP leaders Dayanand, Kiran Jayaramgowda, Raghu, Rajendra, Cable Mahesh and B.M Santosh Kumar were present.

Also, BJP leaders and workers staged protests across the State this morning against the fuel price hike.

VOICE OF THE READER

Doctors must help poor by prescribing Generic Drugs

Sir,

Generic drugs are mandatorily manufactured by several companies to provide affordable medicines to the public. Their actual price is just a fraction of that of proprietary drugs with brand names, varying from 10 to a maximum of 40 percent.

Imagine a patient suffering from diabetes or hypertension spending nearly a thousand rupees on proprietary drugs alone, apart from consultation and investigation charges.

Often, there is little difference between the printed MRP of generic drugs and proprietary drugs.

Exploiting this loophole, some pharmacists lure gullible customers with discounts, but most offer no more than 10 percent. Major drug dealers who buy drugs for as low as 10 rupees sell them at an MRP of 100 rupees minus 5 percent, resulting in enormous profit margin of 85 percent.

As a doctor, I can procure these medicines from wholesale dealers at just 10 rupees. Many retail pharmacists essentially rob their patients. I have verified this on multiple occasions at various medical stores.

To counter these malpractices, the Central Government introduced the concept of Jan Aushadhi almost a decade ago. The purpose was to provide genuinely low-cost medicines to patients.

The Government has several drugs manufactured by companies and prints the actual MRP on the sheets, ensuring no one can sell these medicines at higher prices. They have licenced specific outlets for this purpose, with the stipulation that they will not sell drugs of other companies.

While there was initial enthusiasm, many of these Jan Aushadhi outlet owners have been cheating by selling other cheaper, lower-quality drugs, claiming irregular supply of Jan Aushadhi drugs.

The commission offered by these companies is higher than that offered by Jan Aushadhi drug companies. Many regular patients fall into this trap, buy alternative drugs and suffer the consequences if they are of poor quality, which tarnishes the Government's efforts to provide low-cost medicines.

Doctors are supposed to play a crucial role in promoting generic drugs. Unfortunately, many discourage patients from buying generic drugs by claiming that cheaper drugs are less effective.

Given the numerous companies, both small and large, that manufacture a variety of drugs with no active control over them, it is difficult to ascertain the genuineness of these companies. Even most doctors cannot distinguish between a generic and a proprietary drug without regularly prescribing the generic drug to know its efficacy.

How can we mitigate these drawbacks? The Government should enforce laws requiring manufacturers to print the actual, rather than bloated, MRP.

All Government Hospitals should dispense only generic drugs from reputable companies, abandoning the practice of accepting the lowest of three quotations, as in many cases, a single supplier provides all three quotations.

Finally, we urgently need a change in the mindset of doctors, whose role in promoting generic drugs is crucial. I have been prescribing generic drugs for nearly two decades and find them very effective.

Two inspiring speeches by renowned patriot

By Gouri Satya,
Sr. Journalist

Endeared as 'Lokamanya,' Bal Gangadhar Tilak was a fire-brand freedom fighter, who ceaselessly worked to help the country break away from British rule. His celebrated assertion "Swaraj is my birthright and I shall have it" had a magical effect. It stirred the masses who took up his assertive declaration as a slogan in their fight for freedom. Admiring his patriotism and fight for the cause of freedom, his followers gave him the title 'Lokamanya.'

Gouri Satya

During his tour to awaken the masses, Lokamanya Tilak visited Bellary (now Ballari) and delivered two historic speeches in 1905. He spoke on "Patriotism" during the inauguration of Vani Vilasa Drama Theatre. The second lecture was advice to students and young men while addressing the Bellary Literary Society.

In the first lecture, he defined a nation and explained what was patriotism. He went on to say that the first duty of an Indian Patriot is to see whether we are a nation. If we do not expect India to be a nation, she will never be a nation, he said. He was very clear in his statement when he said if there is no nation there is no patriotism. If there is already a nation, then to work for the good of it is patriotism. If there is no nation, a patriot has to make one.

Here, we must remember Tilak was addressing the gathering before Independence and hence his speeches were more of a nature of inspiring people towards that cause. He made powerful assertions about Swaraj, stressing how it is important for a nation. But it did not end just there, his message had a message for the future, a national reawakening, when he said that all provinces that have come together should remain united and live like one man. He did not forget to emphasise social reforms, economic growth and education that were necessary for making a good nation and keeping them united.

Tilak said differences in race, religion, languages or whatever the other provincial differences and social customs, are not the essentials. "The ethnological elements are the same in all. Their mother country is the same, the same blood runs in their veins. The inner man is the same." We must be more liberal, more broad-minded and work for the good of the races living in different provinces of the country, and to a certain extent as Lord Curzon had said, 'Composite Patriotism.'

"That is the ideal, that is the Patriotic work that we Indians have to do. Nationality should be our ideal and nation formation should be our goal," he underlined.

"To sum up, Patriotism involves nationality and bringing all races together. Patriotism must be composite. The limits must be widened and when we widen these limits we accept the Composite Patriotism of Lord Curzon," Lokamanya Bal Gangadhar Tilak concluded.

While addressing students and young men, he highlighted the limitations of education which had the limited objective of turning out men and women for subordinate services, taking them away from their roots. His experience as a teacher was that education was defective and one-sided. They did not receive religious education or any training as to how to conduct themselves in society. They knew nothing about the industrial development and knew very little about the political ideals by which their life ought to be governed. They knew very little about the history of other nations and what their duties were towards their own country. They knew nothing about the ceremonies performed in their houses and rudely opposed old social customs and habits.

"With so many defects in the education that is imparted to you, you go into the world," he lamented and added it was the duty of the rulers to see that knowledge is imparted to the students of the country in fullness and every detail.

The education that is imparted in schools and colleges should be a 'living education' and not aim at making them just fit for subordinate services in the Government. Even when they are serving the Government of the country, the interests of the country must be above those of the Government. They must not sell themselves and their principles to the Government for the salaries they get, Tilak advised the students.

"Do your duty boldly if you accept service under Government and serve the interests of your master. But at the same time do not sacrifice your individuality or independence of opinion. If you follow this line of conduct you will be doing great good to your people, to the country, and also to the Government. Your first duty is to find out what you can do for your country."

"Think deeply, resolve promptly and act fearlessly," he advised the young men, concluding his speech.

Tilak was invited to Bellary by Nyayavadi Kesari Venkat Rao Kolachalam, a great nationalist, to inaugurate the drama theatre, which he had built in Bellary, a prominent centre of theatre activity. The two speeches had been originally published by Rama Vilasa Press, which was owned by Venkata Rao. His second great-grandson Venkat Nag Kolachalam, who currently resides in the US, has compiled and brought out a revised edition of the book "Lokamanya Tilak's Historic Speeches." It includes a message from former Vice-President of India Venkaiah Naidu and foreword by well-known writer and Senior Journalist Babu Krishnamurthy. Some old photos and maps add to the importance of the book.

7th Leg of Women's Pro Golf Tour in Mysuru

Delhi's Gaurika Bishnoi clinches title

Golfer Gaurika Bishnoi posing with her trophy and winner's cheque.

City's Vidhatri Urs finishes tied-third with Mannat Brar of Chandigarh.

Mysuru, June 17- Gaurika Bishnoi of Delhi produced a stunning finish with a hat-trick of birdies in the last three holes for the week's best round of 4-under 66 to win the 7th of the Women's Pro Golf Tour (WPGT) held at Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Golf Club (JWGC), here on Saturday.

Gaurika, who was tied third after the second round and two shots behind the leader at the start of the day, totalled 1-under 209 as overnight leader Khushi Khanijau (71) of Jaipur cracked under pressure at the end. Khushi gave away bogeys on the 16th and the 17th and carded 2-over 212 to finish three shots behind in runner-up position.

It was Gaurika's first win of the 2024 season. She had two wins in 2023. Amateur Mannat Brar of Chandigarh had a superb final round of 3-under 67 that had six birdies including four on the back nine and three bogeys overall. That took her to 4-over 214 and she was tied-third.

Mysuru's Vidhatri Urs, who took lead on first day in her first-ever round as a pro, shot 71 on third day and finished at 4-over 214 to be tied-third with Mannat.

Gaurika, who began the final day two shots behind Khushi, was still two behind with three holes left. At the end of the front nine, Khushi seemed the likely winner as she stretched her overnight lead from two to four shots. Gaurika turned in even par, while Khushi with birdies on the seventh and ninth was 2-under.

Then things began changing. A bogey by Khushi on the 11th and a birdie by Gaurika on the 15th reduced the gap from four to two.

Then came the big turnaround. Gaurika's experience proved crucial as she birdied the 16th and the 17th, while Khushi bogeyed the 16th and the 17th. That four-shot swing in Gaurika's favour in a matter of just two holes changed the storyline.

From two behind, Gaurika was now two ahead. She added another birdie and Khushi just about managed a par and settled for the runners-up position.

Jasmine Shekar, looking for her maiden win, started the day one behind the second-round leader Khushi. However, Jasmine, who has finished runner-up several times, faced disappointment yet again. Jasmine was 1-under for the front nine but a bogey on the Par-3 14th was followed by a series of three bogeys from the 16th to the 18th. She carded 73 and ended fifth at 5-over 215.

Astha Madan (73) was sixth while amateur Saanvi Somu (70), with one of the only three cards of par or better for the final day, was seventh.

Shweta Mansingh (72), Ananya Garg (73), Rhea Purvi Saravanan (74), Amandeep Drall (74) and new pro Anvitha Narender (75) were in a big bunch tied at eighth at 11-over 221.

Last year's Hero Order of Merit winner Sneha Singh was 13th after a final round of 74.

On the Order of Merit, Hitaashee Bakshi stays on top despite not teeing up this week as she is playing in Singapore, while Amandeep Drall is now second with Khushi Khanijau third. Sneha Singh and Jasmine Shekar are fourth and fifth respectively, while Gaurika, who has played only three events in the seven, held so far, is sixth.

The next event, which is the eighth leg of the Tour, will be held at the Bangalore Golf Club from June 18 to June 20 with the practice round today (June 17).

Cotton candy loses its colour!

The colourful melt-in-your-mouth cotton candy sold on the streets of Mysuru has turned white, following the Karnataka Government's ban on harmful colours used in gobi manchurian and cotton candy. The ban was imposed over health concerns, primarily because eateries use food colouring agents like Rhodamine-B and Carmoisine, which studies have shown to be toxic. While children were disappointed to see vibrant hues of pink and blue fade off their favourite confection, health officials said they were hoping to see fewer colours on other snacks including gobi manchurian.

Cable menace in city

Some service providers clandestinely install cables on Government holidays to evade detection by CESC officers and circumvent payment of prescribed fees. CESC charges Rs. 200 per month per electric pole in urban areas and Rs. 150 in rural areas for each cable fixed.

With approximately 7-8 cables per pole, CESC generates substantial revenue from service providers. However, illegal and unscientific cable installations not only lead to financial losses for CESC but also pose risks.

Despite issuing frequent warnings, CESC has struggled to enforce compliance among service providers. Action against rule violations has been limited, raising concerns over regulatory oversight.

Since 2018, CESC has issued several press releases warning of impending actions to remove illegal cables hanging from poles. Despite warnings like cutting cables, no concrete action has been taken. This lack of enforcement has emboldened cable operators to persist in using electric poles for their commercial activities.

Renuka Swamy murder case

Police team conducts spot mahazar in Chitradurga

Bengaluru, June 17 (Agencies)- The Kamakshipalya Police, investigating the murder of Renuka Swamy from Chitradurga, allegedly committed by Kannada actor Darshan Thoogudeepa and his associates, brought some of the accused to Chitradurga for a spot inspection (mahazar).

Darshan

Among the accused was Raghavendra, the President of the Darshan Fans Association in Chitradurga, who faces charges of kidnapping and murder. Acting on Darshan's directions, he allegedly brought Renuka Swamy to Bengaluru, the Police said.

The spot inspection was conducted near a tea stall close to the Jagalur Mahalingappa Petrol Bunk in Kunchiganal, where Renuka Swamy was picked up hours before his murder in Bengaluru. Raghavendra allegedly took Renuka Swamy from Chitradurga to the petrol bunk in an autorickshaw.

Procedure at 1 am

Following information that Darshan was being brought to Chitradurga, hundreds of residents from nearby villages gathered at Kunchiganal. Seeing the crowd at 8.30 pm, the Police team decided to conduct the spot inspection at 1 am to avoid the crowds.

The accused, Raghavendra, was brought to the scene and the inspection was conducted under the leadership of Circle Inspector Sanjeev Gowda. During the inspection, the suspect provided information about Renuka Swamy's kidnapping.

He told the Police that he had abducted Renuka Swamy in an autorickshaw around 9.48 am on June 8 near Balaji Bar and Restaurant. Before taking him in the autorickshaw, Raghavendra intercepted Renuka Swamy's scooter. After blocking his way, Renuka Swamy was bundled into an autorickshaw.

Raghavendra then called Ravishankar, alias Ravi, the car driver who transported Renuka Swamy to Bengaluru. The victim was taken from Challakere Gate via Bengaluru Road in a car.

CCTV footage

Meanwhile, new CCTV footage related to Renuka Swamy's murder has emerged. The video from a toll plaza in Chitradurga shows a white car used to transport Renuka Swamy from Chitradurga to Bengaluru.

The accused abducted Renuka Swamy under the pretext of arranging a meeting with the actor. Renuka Swamy was first transported in an autorickshaw and later shifted to a car, which the Police have seized.

Girish Nayak back

Inspector Girish Nayak, who played a pivotal role in the arrest of the gang involved in the Renuka Swamy murder case, has rejoined the investigation team.

Initially instrumental in Darshan's arrest, he was later replaced as the Investigation Officer (IO) by his superior, ACP Chandan Gowda.

Inspector Girish Nayak was responsible for bringing actor Darshan from Mysuru. He has now been transferred back to the Kamakshipalya Police Station. Now he will be the Assistant IO.

Pavitra Gowda's manager, one more accused arrested

Police inspect Pavitra's house; seize clothes, slippers she wore on the day of murder

Bengaluru, June 17 (Agencies)- Acting swiftly in the Renuka Swamy murder case, the Police have now taken Pavitra Gowda's manager, Devaraj, into custody.

Devaraj was detained on Mysuru Road and is currently being interrogated. It is said that on the day of murder, Devaraj, along with Pavitra, went to the shed where Renuka Swamy was killed. After attacking Renuka Swamy, Pavitra went straight to her house. When she allegedly attacked him, he fell at her feet and apologised for his misdemeanors.

According to the Police, Pavitra was the first to hit the victim with her sandals on June 9, the day of the murder.

Meanwhile, the Police have arrested another suspect in the murder case. S. Girish, Deputy Commissioner of Police (West), who is overseeing the investigation, confirmed the arrest of Raju alias Dhanraj this morning.

Raju was named as accused number nine in the first remand application submitted by the Police to the Magistrate.

Pavitra's house searched

Pavitra Gowda was taken by the Police for a spot inspection at her residence in Rajarajeshwari Nagar on Sunday afternoon.

Police also took the third accused, Pavan, who was a worker at her house, for the inspection.

The officials, along with the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL) team, examined the two-storey building for about two hours and seized the clothes she was wearing on the day of the incident and the sandals she allegedly used to beat the victim.

Pavitra has been staying at the house for the last 10 years, while Pavan was given accommodation in a room on the ground floor. Both Pavitra's residence and Pavan's room were checked by the Police. While being taken out of the house, Pavitra and Pavan were seen smiling, while curious neighbours stood on the balconies and outside their houses watching the developments. The accused duo was then taken to Annapoorneshwari Nagar Police Station after the inspection.

Darshan to be brought to Mysuru today?

One of the accused wanted to contest Mysuru City Corporation elections

Mysuru, June 17 (BCT)- If reports from Bengaluru are accurate, actor Darshan Thoogudeepa is slated to be brought to Mysuru today (June 17) for a spot inspection related to his visit here for a movie shoot following the Renuka Swamy murder.

According to the Police, after the murder, financial transactions occurred at a Mysuru hotel where Darshan was staying. Special Public Prosecutor (SPP) P. Prasanna Kumar argued in Court that immediately after the incident, Darshan travelled to Mysuru for filming and lodged at the Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel.

On June 12, Darshan was arrested by Kamakshipalya Inspector Girish Nayak & his team at a gym here where he was exercising. The SPP emphasised the necessity for Police to conduct on-site inspections at both the hotel and the gym where the arrest took place.

Accused wanted to contest MCC polls

Meanwhile, ongoing investigations continue to uncover new evidence concerning the murder. Additionally, another suspect, Nagaraju alias Naga, who also sought a candidacy for the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), is among the gang members who have been arrested.

Nagaraju, a staunch fan of Darshan, originates from T. Narasipur in Mysuru district and currently resides in T.K. Layout, Mysuru.

According to Police reports, he played a significant role among Darshan's supporters and had ambitions to contest from Ward No. 21 of the MCC.

Nagaraju frequently organised logistics whenever Darshan visited Mysuru. Due to his strong connections with Congress party leaders, Nagaraju was positioning himself to secure a ticket from the party for the MCC elections.

Formerly employed at a petrol station, Nagaraju gained entry into Darshan's inner circle through mutual contacts and actively managed various aspects of Darshan's activities.

Sources reveal that Nagaraju oversaw operations at Darshan's farmhouse in Kempayyanahundi, Mysuru taluk.

Over the past 15 years, Nagaraju has been known for overseeing Darshan's dietary requirements, lodging, travel and personal matters.

Don't treat celebrities like God; Justice should prevail: Sudeep

Bengaluru, June 17 (Agencies)- In response to the arrest of actor Darshan Thoogudeepa in the Renuka Swamy murder case, fellow Kannada actor Kiccha Sudeep emphasised that justice for victim Renuka Swamy's family is paramount, and the film industry should not be tarnished due to the actions of one individual.

Sudeep

Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, Sudeep urged people not to idolise celebrities as infallible beings. He acknowledged that everyone makes mistakes and underlined the importance of learning from them.

"Don't treat celebrities like God, don't expect that we do the right things all the time and don't assume that we are always right. Everyone makes mistakes every day and we learn from them," he said. Sudeep also praised the efforts of the media and the Police in uncovering the truth surrounding the case.

Regarding the Government's handling of the situation, Sudeep refrained from criticising it, saying that justice should prevail.

He highlighted the need for a clean film industry and asserted that the guilty must be appropriately punished.

When asked about calls to ban Darshan from the film industry, Sudeep prioritised justice over punitive measures.

He differentiated between justice, friendship and relationships, emphasising that banning Darshan is not the key issue.

WORD OF THE DAY

Paradigm

Pronunciation: PAIR-uh-dyme (Noun)
Meaning: Paradigm is a formal word that refers to a pattern or example, and especially to an outstandingly clear or typical example or archetype. It can also refer to a theory or group of ideas about how something should be done, made, or thought about.
Origin: Paradigm comes from the Greek verb paradeiknynai, meaning "to show side by side." It has been used in English to mean "example" or "pattern" since the 15th century. There is debate, however, about what kind of example qualifies as a paradigm. Some people say it's a typical example, while others insist it must be an outstanding or perfect example. The scientific community has added to the confusion by using paradigm to mean "a theoretical framework," a sense popularised by American scientist Thomas S. Kuhn in the second edition of his influential book The Structure of Scientific Revolutions, published in 1970. Some usage commentators now advise avoiding the term entirely on the grounds that it is overused, but we contend that it can sometimes make a useful, conversation-enriching replacement for idea, theory, or concept, as in "an article about sandwiches that shifts the paradigm by including hot dogs."
Example: "In a music paradigm that's increasingly focused on individual tracks, artists still have a chance to make a bigger statement about the world, and themselves, through larger collections that can explore a variety of styles and emotions." —Tom Roland, Billboard, 23 Jan. 2024

THE ODD WORD

Liberosis

The desire to care less about things.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Tea and Sympathy

Meaning: The phrase 'Tea and Sympathy' is used to describe kindness and sympathy that you show to someone who is upset.
Origin: The origin of 'tea and sympathy' is well-known; this term comes from a play of the same name. Tea and Sympathy was written by Robert Anderson in 1953; it chronicles the tale of a troubled boy. The famous quote is: "All you're supposed to do is every once in a while give the boys a little tea and sympathy."
Example: "Sometimes people want practical advice and sometimes they just want tea and sympathy."

QUOTE BOX

Art hurts. Art urges voyages - and it is easier to stay at home.
